

PENNSTATE

penn state STEM

fall 2014 | open house

September
11th - 14th

Interested in Graduate School?

Penn State's Graduate School in collaboration with the College of Earth and Mineral Sciences, College of Engineering, Eberly College of Science, College of Agricultural Sciences, College of Information Science and Technology and Materials Research Science and Engineering Center at Penn State invites underrepresented junior and senior undergraduates with strong academic records and research programs to submit an application for our STEM Fall Open House. This program is intended for those interested in applying to graduate programs at the Penn State University Park campus.

Program Highlights

- Exploring research interests through individual meetings with potential research advisers
- Academic program visits including a session with admission committee chairs
- Information on University resources and the graduate education experience from Penn State faculty, staff, and students
- Tours of campus and the State College community

Apply online: www.gradsch.psu.edu/openhouse

The application deadline is May 19, 2014. Applicants must be US citizens or permanent residents. Accepted applicants will be notified via email by June 30, 2014. Meals and hotel accommodations as well as reasonable travel costs to and from the event will be provided.

For more information: Dr. Stephanie Preston, Senior Director of OGEEP
(814) 863-1663, phone
PSUSTEMOpenHouse@psu.edu

www.gradsch.psu.edu/openhouse

